"Letter-a-week" may be a ubiquitous approach to teaching alphabet knowledge, but that doesn't mean it's an effective one. In No More Teaching a Letter a Week, early literacy researcher Dr. William Teale helps us understand that alphabet knowledge is more than letter recognition, and identifies research-based principles of effective alphabet instruction, which constitutes the foundation for phonics teaching and learning. Literacy coach Rebecca McKay shows us how to bring those principles to life through purposeful practices that invite children to create an identity through print. Children can and should do more than glue beans into the shape of a
"B"; they need to learn how letters create words that carry meaning, so that they can, and do, use print to expand their understanding of the world and themselves. Kids will clamor to complete the charming poems on these ready-to-go pages. As they fill in missing letter or letter combinations to complete each poem, children have repeated opportunities to spell, write, and read words containing the targeted sound-spelling pattern. Poems feature predictable, rhyming text and tie in with popular themes such as seasons, animals, and all about me. Perfect for independent reading or readaloud practice! Engaging format reinforces spelling, writing, and reading. Builds decoding and word recognition skills. Boosts automaticity, fluency skills, and reading confidence. Great for ELLs and RTI instruction. Can be used for whole-class, small-group, one-on-one, or independent activities. Provides weekly spelling lists and homework activities to teach spelling, using words children will encounter in their reading and writing during first grade.
